PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION GIVE DECISIONS

Charge For Ferry Service Not Unreasonable

In the matter of the investigation of Boston and Maine tariff, N. H. P. S. C., No. 640, the opinion of the Commission has been filed, and Rules 1 and 5, doubling the rate for "secondary switching," and Rule 2, increasing the rate for switching at junction points where the Boston and Maine railroad connects with the Maine Central and Grand Trunk Railways, are declared to be in violation of the prohibition against raising rates contained in the consolidation statutes of 1883 and 1889 and in Chapter 194 of the Laws of 1911 and the stipulation filed thereunder. An order of the Commission has been made prohibiting said increases. Rules 3 and 4, creating a minimum charge of $2.00 per car for "ferry service," so called was held not to be in violation of law, nor unreasonable. Accordingly no order is made affecting said rules and the same continue in force as filed.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM.

A great deal of material is being presented to the reading public through the magazines and newspapers, concerning the essential value of preventive medicine and also of the necessity of prosecuting the present investigations and laboratory methods of experimentation upon defenseless animals, in order that the health of humanity may be the more securely established. It is proclaimed broadcast that these laboratory methods, in which vivisection plays a prominent part, have been of great and lasting benefit to mankind by conserving the vital powers of the race and that because of this the practice of Vivisection is justifiable.

This position of the vivisectionist is being vigorously assailed by a large number of people who are not lacking in intellectual ability and moral fibre,—people who are both intelligent and humane, and who are so well informed concerning the methods used, and the real character of the results of vivisection, that they are seeking to enlighten their fellowmen. These anti-vivisectionists question not only the beneficent nature of the claimed results of vivisection, but also the moral right of humanity to take such cruel, and extensive toll of the animal kingdom as vivisection requires.

On Sunday evening at 7:45 under the auspices of The People's Forum at the Universalist church, Mr. Frank Stephens of Philadelphia, Pa., will deliver an address on "Anti-vivisection." Mr. Stephens is a vivid lecturer, and an investigator who is thoroughly familiar with this vital subject, and it will be well worth while for those who wish to become informed on this important matter to hear this interesting speaker.

Ample time will be allowed for a reasonable discussion of the subject, at the close of the lecture. A musical program will be provided. The public is cordially invited. Come! And bring your friends.

WEATHER FORECAST

Washington, March, 15—Forecast for Northern New England: Snow or rain and colder Saturday, cold wave at night; high, west winds; Sunday fair.

Local forecast for Portsmouth and vicinity: Saturday fair and much colder; Sunday fair, brisk and high westerly winds, diminishing.

RELAY RACE FROM THIS CITY TO NEWBURYPORT

One Now Being Planned For April 19

Physical Director Fuller of the Newburyport Y. M. C. A., is planning a relay race from this city to Newburyport to take place next month. Arrangements are being made with Physical Director Caleb D. Howard of the local association for the event and it is expected each association will be represented by ten men and each man will run two miles.

The start will be made from the Portsmouth Y. M. C. A., and the men will finish at City hall in Newburyport. Though no definite date has been set as yet, it is thought that the event will take place April 19.

PENSION FOR LIFE SAVERS NOW SEEMS ASSURED

Frye Bill Will Give Men Three Quarters Pay on Retirement

In ordering a favorable report upon what is known as the Frye bill, providing a retired list and pensions for superintendents, keepers and surf men of the life saving service, the Senate committee on commerce has taken a definite step in a situation concerning which much misunderstanding has existed.

Half truths as to the alleged desire of the treasury department to amalgamate the life saving service with the revenue cutter service have been circulated, with the best of intentions, and with a laudable purpose to protect the former service against impairment some of its friends have made charges against officers of the treasury and the revenue cutter service which would not have been made had all the facts been understood.

It has been asserted for example that the treasury department has been engaged in a systematic attempt to force the absorption of the life saving by the revenue cutter service, and to this end has pursued a policy of appointing revenue cutter officers in place of district superintendents in the life saving service, and has failed to recommend appropriations for the salaries of the superintendents. These and other charges of like character are not true, but are made plausible through a misunderstanding of the laws governing the life saving service.

Each of the 13 life saving districts is under control of a superintendent who, under the law of the last few years, must have been promoted from the ranks after a competitive examination. Previously

NEGOTIATIONS WITH COAL OPERATORS ARE OFF

Present Agreement With Miners Has Been in Force Nine Years

New York, March 15.—“All negotiations with the anthracite coal operators are off,” declared John P. White, president of the United Mine Workers of America, at the adjournment of the meeting this afternoon between the operators and miners, in which the miners declined the operators’ counter proposition. “I look for a general suspension of work on April 1,” he added. “Will there be a strike?” he was asked. “I can’t say as to that,” he replied. “The miners’ officials will discuss that matter this afternoon.” The meeting between the miners and the operators was brief. Mr. White read to the operators the miners’ reply to their rejection of the miners’ demands. It was received without comment, and the meeting adjourned without day. None of the operators was willing to talk. “We regret the positive position you have taken,” the reply reads, “as we had hoped, that as the representatives of the anthracite coal operators, you would consider the great change in conditions existing now as compared with those of 1902, upon which the coal strike commission gave its award; and would, therefore, recognize the seasonableness of the demands of the anthracite mine workers and make such concessions as industrial and market conditions and conditions of living unquestionably now warrant. “Your proposal to renew the present agreement does not appeal to us nor will it appeal to the people we represent. The award of the coal strike commission was not intended to continue in effect for all time hereafter, regardless of how materially industrial and other conditions might change, and does not adequately meet changed conditions now in effect. We submit that conditions have changed since the award was made notwithstanding your claim to the contrary.” The reply states that the purchasing power of the wages of the miners is not now as great as it was in 1902, and is not “sufficient to maintain that standard of living contemplated even by the commission itself.” The hazard attending the work of the miner is pointed out in figures which state that from 1899 to 1910, inclusive, 18,921 miners were killed and injured and in addition the health of many others was destroyed. “We know of no good reason,” the reply continues, “why mine workers should be obliged to work longer hours in the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania than in the bituminous mines of the same State. We, therefore, are satisfied with the justice of the demands submitted for a shorter work day as well as a substantial increase in wages, as it goes without saying that the purchasing power of our people does not correspond with that of 1902. “The recognition of the United Mine Workers of Districts Nos. 1, 7 and 9, which comprises the anthracite coal region, is necessary in order to carry into effect any agreement that might be entered into.” The reply declares that the miners had hoped that the answer to the demands would have been fully discussed by both operators and miners before being made final. “But your proposal to renew the present agreement is final and renders quite impossible,” the reply continues, “the hope of arriving at a satisfactory conclusion by reason of such discussion while the position of your committee is continued in this respect.” The miners call attention to the fact that the present agreement has been in force for nine years, during which time, they say, they have endeavored to comply with it fully. The reply says in conclusion: “Now, firmly believing that a public-spirited citizen has done more than our full duty during all these years when anthracite operators enjoyed unprecedented prosperity, we feel that the responsibility which might follow failure to reach a satisfactory settlement of the questions at issue, when weighed by a discriminating public, cannot be placed upon the anthracite mine workers or their representatives.”

ALL YOU NEED IS A CASCARET TONIGHT

No Sick Headache, Bilious Stomach, Coated Tongue or Constipated Bowels by Morning.

Turn the rascals out—the headache, the biliousness, the indigestion, the sick, sour stomach and foul gases—turn them out tonight—and keep them out with Cascarets. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then and never know the misery caused by a lazy liver, clogged bowels or an upset stomach. Don't put in another day of distress let Cascarets cleanse and regulate your stomach; remove the food, undigested and fermenting food and that misery-making gas; take the excess bile from your liver and carry out of the system all the decomposed waste matter and poison in the intestines and bowels. Then you will feel great. A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from any drug store means a clear head and cheerfulness for months. Children love to take Cascarets because they taste good—never ripe or sick.

Poverty. Poverty is dishonorable not in itself, but when it is a proof of laziness, intemperance, luxury and carelessness; whereas in a person that is temperate, industrious, just and valiant, and who uses all his virtues for the public good, it shows a great and lofty mind. For he has no time for great matters who concerns himself with petty ones; nor can he relieve many needs of others, who himself has many needs of his own.—Plutarch.

Colors in Granite. A peculiar characteristic of the New England granite veins is the fact that three distinct colors of granite are to be found in as many states, pink in Massachusetts, gray in Connecticut, and green in Vermont. Green granite is something of a curiosity because of its rarity. The largest columns of this variety to be found anywhere are those which support the dome in the library of Columbia university.

Two Star Pitchers Who Will Try to Win Pennant for Phila. Nationals

Philadelphia, March 16.—Can two pitchers win a pennant for a team? This is now being asked by the experts. John M. Wards, president of the Boston National League club and a ball player of note in his day, says, “Yes,” and so do Pitchers Alexandria and Calmers of the Philadelphia National League club—in fact, they are going to try it. So the question will in all probability be answered by next fall. Early in the spring Alexandria was dismantled with the terms of his contract. The young pitcher then submitted a rather unique proposition to President Fogel. He agreed to sign his contract at the specified terms, but demanded a bonus if he should win as many games as would equal a third of the victories that fall to the 1912 champions of the National League. Fogel immediately accepted the offer. Calmers, another crack twirler of the Phillies, heard of Alexandria's bargain and was almost next in securing for himself the same terms. Dopesters are now figuring out how many games either of these two men will have to win in order to secure the bonus. Opinions vary from thirty-three to thirty-five.

GREENLAND

News Notes From Our Neighboring Town.

On Sunday evening at the Methodist church special music will be rendered by the union choirs. The service will begin at seven o'clock and promises to be very attractive. All are cordially invited to be present.

“Our Sewing Club” met this week with Mrs. George W. Ford. Refreshments were served. Miss Helen Rumlill who has been at the Portsmouth Cottage hospital for a few weeks following a surgical operation for appendicitis by Dr. Donald McLachlan has recovered sufficiently to return home this week.

Mrs. Sarah F. Tilton of Portsmouth is the guest of Mrs. John S. Pickering.

The town reports record for the year ending December 31, 1911, were seventeen births, ten girls and seven boys. Also twenty-three deaths seven of whom died in other places and the remains brought here for interment. Of this entire number Josiah Edgerly is registered 95 years 11 months. Mrs. Annie B. Weeks 95 years. Miss Harriet C. Pearson 91 years, 7 months. Making a total of the united ages of four persons 375 years, 9 months. This statement suggests that the environment of Greenland is conducive to longevity.

There were five marriages of which were performed by Rev. Dr. Robie. The Robert Manson and Dr. John H. Clark funds for care of cemetery lots hitherto in charge of the town, have been transferred to the Cemetery trustees.

Edwin L. Brackett and Edward W. Holmes went to Boston Wednesday for a brief trip.

Belknap S. Weeks passed Friday in Boston and vicinity in auto bus.

Mr. and Mrs. Thornton Weeks, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Brackett, Mrs. George W. Lord and other local members attended the Pomona meeting at Portsmouth on Wednesday.

in especially in the lower grades is being worked out and Miss Hoyt estimates that all will be at least a term ahead in tone production and reading while the interest is kept at a most desirable point.

STRONG PICTURE PROGRAM.

“Seven Bars of Gold”—one of the several interesting photo-plays shown at Music Hall Friday evening presents an interesting story of western life. A conspiracy is planned against the shipping agent of a railroad to rob him of the gold and make it appear that he is the guilty party. The “gang” got the gold and things are looking bad for the young man. The sheriff arrives as also does the division inspector. The young man is hand-cuffed and the girl in the case arrives, and makes a discovery just in time to save the innocent and to have the guilty parties captured.

In “When Duty Calls” a robber's daughter is sick, the wife goes for the doctor. The doctor she seeks happens to be the same one that the robbers partner puts up a scheme to rob. The wife returns and the robber departs and by his deed makes the doctor unconscious just as he is about to start to see the child. Regaining consciousness the doctor goes to the sick child. While at the house the robber returns, they meet again and repenting of his deed the robber returns to the doctor's home with the stolen goods.

Other photo-plays shown were “Jola's Promise,” “The Great Diamond Robbery,” “Mysterious Gallant” and “First Aid to the Injured.” Miss Ethel Wood sang “I Live in Town.” The same program will be presented this evening.

HOLDS THE WORLD'S RECORD.

“I feel as if I might be able to round out my century in the pulpit,” cheerfully observes the Rev. Edward Robie of Greenland, N. H., who is now in his 91st year, and who recently observed by preaching to the people to whom he regularly ministers, the 60th anniversary of his settlement in the pulpit he still occupies. His townspeople aver that he holds the world's record for ministers now living, of permanent and long service.—Boston Post.

HAD NOTHING MORE TO SAY

How the Lady's Complaints Were Silenced by the Fluent Dairy Wagon Driver.

Fault-finding may be met in any one of several ways. The method employed by the dairymen of whom the Rehoboth Herald tells would not serve with some people; but apparently it served with the lady at No. 75.

“He had been told on starting out on the route that No. 75 was inclined to find fault, but that she was a good customer, and he was on no account to be rude to her.

“Those eggs you left here yesterday were stale!” granted Mrs. 75, on the dairymen's second visit.

“Those eggs,” responded the dairymen, blandly, “was laid half an hour before you had 'em, by special quick laying birds imported from the Moely Yomps isles, ma'am, and they came down to this very house by marconigram, so you should have 'em fresh. A bit of twangy flavor they may have, but you can rest assured, ma'am, they weren't stale.”

Mrs. 75 gasped. “Well, the milk didn't seem as good as usual yesterday, either,” she pursued.

“Well, the boss will be cut up when he hears that!” continued the dairymen. “He sent down to Alderney a purpose for a cow that eats nothing but peaches and pineapples. ‘Never mind the expense,’ sezee. ‘This cow we shall keep a-purpose for the lady at 75, and mind it sleeps on a feather bed at night,’ he sez, ‘and don't forget the elder-down quilt and the bed socks.’ Was there anything wrong with the butter, ma'am?”

But Mrs. 75 shook her head, speechless.—Youth's Companion.

MATERNITY IS A PRIVILEGE

Little Lecture on Marriage and Divorce That May Interest Some Modern Parents.

“Some folks wonder at the miracle in the Good Book, but God did the biggest and most unexplainable thing when he gave woman the privilege of being a mother. You might marry another man some time, but there's something you'd never forget, and that is that Perk is the father of Lucille and Mary Jane. It's somethin' that demands from you a lot of forgiveness, if need be, for whatever he does I don't think there's any divorce that God's a-goin' to recognize which separates fathers and mothers. He might overlook their livin' apart from each other if things went too far crosswise, but I doubt if he's goin' to fix affairs up in heaven after the judgment day by sayin' ‘Mr. Smith, the courts down there in the U. S. A. says you ain't got no right to call this woman your wife and so I'm givin' her to Mr. Jones, who married her three years after she got her decree. He'll take care of your angel children and you'll have to go way back and sit down.’ I say I don't think he's goin' to do it that way.”—Mary Jane's Pa, in the Novelization by Norman Way.

MUSIC AS A MUNICIPAL ASSET.

The deep wave of enthusiasm for music is in the country; the crest of the wave is in the cities. Every metropolis—we have more than one—is a mammoth conservatory. Six cities support symphony orchestras of the first rank. They are Chicago, St. Louis, Cincinnati, Kansas City, St. Paul, and Minneapolis. A symphony orchestra, be it known, is the ne plus ultra of a music-center. To support such a luxury is impossible save with the help of many well-to-do John Stones. It is also impossible without a solid foundation of music-lovers—enough to fill the hall nearly every time. The city that has one has something that its commercial association can use with large effect in advertising literature. For it has come to be recognized in the west that musical achievement is a municipal asset. The “boosters” of a city now call attention to its banks, its newspapers, its wharves, its factories and its symphony orchestra.—Metropolitan Magazine.

Tactful Request.

Dobbleigh was a confirmed borrower, and what was worse, he seldom returned the borrowed articles. He had held on to Whibley's umbrella for instance, for nearly a year.

“And I'm biest if I know how I am ever going to get it back,” said Whibley.

“Easy,” said Hickenlooper. “Call a messenger and send Dobbleigh this note.”

And he scribbled off the following: “Dear Dobbleigh: If you can spare it I'd like to borrow that umbrella of mine for a couple of days. Can you oblige me?”—Harper's Weekly.

Out of Mouths of Babies.

Little Harold, aged five, helped his grandfather last summer setting out fruit trees, and was telling his father about it the other night.

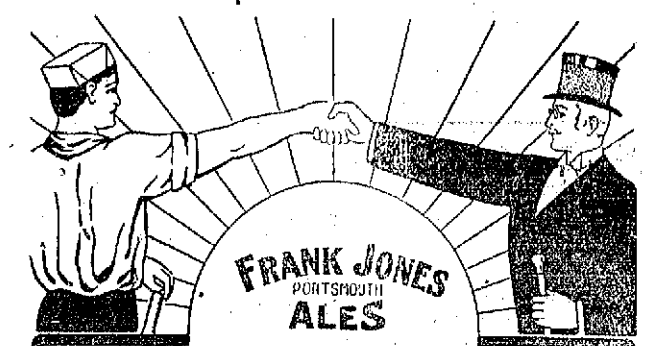

Thinking to improve the opportunity of pointing a moral, father asked:

“Who made the trees, son?”

The kid thought for a moment, then his face lit up with a knowing smile. “I guess God made the trees,” he said. “But grandpa stood 'em up.”—Milwaukee Free Press.

DR. HARVEY W. WILEY
HAS RESIGNED*Efficient Head of Bureau of Chemistry Leaves His Office--Government Loses Valuable Man.

Washington, March 15.—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, chief of the United States Bureau of Chemistry, today handed his resignation to Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, and announced that he would devote the rest of his life to urging the creation of a National Health Department, entirely separate from any other branch of the Government service. The resignation became effective today.

Dr. Wiley said he had a number of offers under consideration. One is from a lecture bureau and others are of an editorial and commercial nature. He declared positively that he would not enter business. Already he has agreed to deliver a series of lectures in Kansas and Colorado and at various points in the East.

Asked whether he would be a candidate for head of the proposed Federal Health Department, for which he announced he was going to work, he declared that he would not be, that he had held all the Government positions he cared to fill.

President Taft today sent telegrams broadcast to the heads of universities and colleges throughout the country, asking them to recommend a successor to Dr. Wiley. The President said he hoped in this way to get a consensus of opinion about the best and most available chemist.

Dr. Wiley's resignation came as a dramatic climax to a long conference he had with Secretary Wilson in the latter's private office today. The secretary could make no statement of the case—otherwise than that Dr. Wiley had handed in his resignation. No reason was given, he said, nor did Dr. Wiley outline his plans for the future.

Despite the fact that rumors had been current for several weeks that a Government's pure food expert was about to leave the service, the actual news of his resignation came as a big surprise to official Washington. To all resignation reports Dr. Wiley had made emphatic denial.

gated affairs of the department complimented Dr. Wiley in the highest terms and scored his "enemies" in the department.

He entered the service of the Government as chief chemist in 1883, serving in that capacity continuously ever since.

Because of alleged technical irregularities in the employment of Dr. H. H. Rusby, a New York consulting chemist, Dr. Wiley some time ago was recommended for dismissal by Secretary Wilson and Attorney General Wickersham. President Taft set these recommendations aside.

One rumor recently was that Dr. Wiley would enter political life and might become a candidate for vice president on the Democratic ticket. Dr. Wiley denied this with a laugh.

COUNTRY CLUB DANCING ASSEMBLY

The last of a series of very delightful dancing assemblies for the Country Club was held on Friday evening at the Freeman hall annex and with a good sized party present.

The favors were all in honor of St. Patrick's day and they were many and very unique, and afforded lots of fun in the cotillions. The assembly like all of the others were informal affairs and the dancing was from eight to twelve o'clock. The music was rendered by Wentworth and Marden's orchestra of four pieces and it was the best of the series.

Ices and cake was served during the short intermission.

At the close of dancing the committee of ladies, who have had charge of all of the arrangements, were given a vote of thanks by the members for their excellent work.

The committee in charge were, Mrs. E. S. Daniell, Mrs. J. W. Kelley, Mrs. C. W. Bass, Mrs. H. J. Robertson, Jr., and Mrs. E. B. Eastman.

BIBLE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION

(Undenominational.)

Divine services Sunday in U. V. U. hall, Congress street, 3 p. m. Next Sunday, March 17th, Mr. J. T. Boutcott of Boston, will lecture on the subject of "Life, Death and the Hereafter." In this his third lecture, Mr. Boutcott will tell where and what Hell is. Who are there and who will return there from. Also where 20,000,000,000 who have died have gone, and what hope we may have for them. What hope we may have for the heathen who have died without knowledge of God. If the doctrine of Eternal torment be true it should be thundered from every house throughout the land. If it is not true you have a right to know it. A free pamphlet will be given away at the close of the service, in which is explained every text in the Bible, where the word "Hell" occurs. Seats free. No collection.

To the Good Citizens of Portsmouth,

Ladies and Gentlemen:—
I wish to thank you for the good attendance, and support that you gave to me, for my charity concert, that was given by me, for the Benefit of the Red Cross of Italy.

The money that I have received, as soon as I have paid the expenses, the rest is going to be sent to the President of the Red Cross of Italy, R. Taverna, named to the children that had lost their father in Tripoli. I remain yours sincerely, Joseph Sacro.

Overturned Cars and Rail That Caused Accident.

Copyright, 1912, by American Press Association.

Ice and steel saved the lives of probably most of the passengers of the Twentieth Century Limited when a broken rail snapped five cars of that tier over an embankment that edges the Hudson river a few miles above Poughkeepsie, N. Y. The heavy river ice stopped the plunge of the cars, bore their weight and gave time for passengers to escape drowning. The steel cars withstood a shock that would have broken and splintered wooden coaches. The arrow points to the broken rail that caused the accident. It was thrown 200 feet away on the ice.

FROM SIRE TO SON.

The Lacoula Democrat says: State Auditor Musgrove is as bold as a rabbit and as loquacious as a clam in declaring himself on the question of Taft or Roosevelt, but there isn't much doubt where his good old sire stands, for Capt. Musgrove in his Bristol Enterprise makes his position plain as follows: "The effect of the entrance of the colonel into the political ring as a candidate for the presidency, instead of causing a stampede from the luke warm supporters of Taft, has been to solidify the great mass of Republican voters to his standard. The American people like fair play and they are more willing to overlook the few faults of the man in office and who is willing to sacrifice his honor and the safe traditions of the country to secure it. Taft is stronger today than before Roosevelt threw his hat into the ring."

The Washington Star says: When a man compares himself to Abraham Lincoln he assumes moral standards and intellectual powers that are seldom combined in an individual. Such a man is bound to be worth studying.

It is feared that the member of Congress who desires to have the word "applause" omitted from speeches printed in the Record is lacking in both sympathy and imagination. A statesman should at least have the privilege of indicating where he thinks the applause ought to be.

A president of a large railroad says: Railroads can be likened to an ordinary pine stick. The commerce commission is whittling away at one end and labor unions at the other. When one of these irresistible forces meets the other, at or near the middle, stockholders won't get much satisfaction in picking up the chips and trying to reconstruct the stick."

Whatever may be the sentiment in other parts of the State, it is evident that in this city the preponderating Republican feeling is in favor of the nomination of President Taft. Some of those who have seen fit to identify themselves with the Roosevelt move been swinging around the circle for so many years, it looks as though they will eventually get back to the democratic faith.

A prominent western railroad official, in discussing the unusually large number of wrecks that have occurred within the past few months on fast trains, attributed them entirely to the great speed at which they run. "To my mind," he concluded, "the public would be much better served and would feel better satisfied if the trains were run on a slower schedule and a guarantee of safety be given by the railroad company."

Now that the delegates to the Constitutional Convention have been chosen, a number of the most influential of the weekly papers of the State have begun to clamor for the reduction of the New Hampshire legislature. It is claimed that the four hundred should be cut in half, at least, and the senate doubled. This would give a combined body of about two hundred and fifty men, certainly enough to transact business for the little state of New Hampshire. That the question of equal suffrage will be submitted to the voters is a foregone conclusion. It was submitted nine years ago, and the sentiment in its favor is much stronger at this time than it was then. The question of a proper appraisal of property for taxation is an important one. Some different method from that at present in use is urgently demanded and should receive the attention of the best minds in the convention. Other matters will be presented and should be carefully examined and the best solution possible arrived at. What ever is done will be submitted to the voters for ratification and for this reason the people should keep close watch on the deliberations and recommendations of this body.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS.

Several prominent democrats are contemplating events as serenely as if they were mere spectators of a race between Theodore Roosevelt and William Howard Taft.

New York's old guard is wondering whether the history of the state's election for governor is going to repeat itself on a national scale.

One difficulty about the parachute is that a man has to risk his life so often in practice before he becomes expert in its use.

England presents an interesting field for economic study, including as it does just now, about every sort of social discontent on record.

Although a socialist, Mr. Victor Berger is by no means as fiercely demonstrated as some of the gentlemen who profess a milder kind of politics.

Politics has taken such an early start this year that a straw vote is sufficient to start a controversy.

Is anybody more exasperating than he man who boasts to you that he has burned only three tons of coal in his furnace all winter long.

This spring fever that you hear so much about isn't characterized by a feverish anxiety to work.

"Women are all beautiful," says Charles Dana Gibson, thus paying Dr. Mary Walker such a compliment as she has not had before for years.

Has it occurred to you to inquire whether the Daughters of the Chinese Revolution have begun organizing yet?

This is the time of the year when a man thinks that very likely when cold weather comes again he will have a new overcoat.

A great many people read "Les Miserables" who aren't at all sure they can pronounce it.

If Mr. Carnegie should decide personally to carry out his idea of submitting some public men to the discipline known as spanking he will assuredly be entitled to one of his own hero medals.

Having discovered that it possesses a king who knows how to run its affairs as well as if he were a president, Siam has decided that it does not care to be a republic.

As only $400,000 worth of radium is produced annually, it is doubtful whether the mines will pay very liberally unless Austria drifts into stock manipulation.

Events will show whether the new nationalist party has been waste-basketed or only pigeonholed.

Only a politician of the rank amateur class would desire to be known as a professional politician.

It seems rather nice to see the sunshine once more.

It is wrong to imagine relief is cure.

Backache is kidney ache.

You must cure the kidneys.

A Portsmouth resident tells you how.

George Byers, 172 Gates St., Portsmouth, N. H., says: "My kidneys became disordered some years ago and I suffered severely from pains and lameness in my back. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage and at night I was obliged to arise several times. I doctored and tried several remedies, but was unable to find relief until I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Phillips' Pharmacy. They brought the most satisfactory results. After I had finished the contents of two boxes my trouble had disappeared."

ADOPTED SON IS SUMMONED

Will Appear as a Litigant in Eddy Case

Concord, March 15.—An order citing Dr. Ebenezer J. Foster Eddy of Waterbury, Vt., to appear in the Supreme Court on Tuesday, April 2, to become a party to the litigation of the will of Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy was issued that in court today. This action was taken in order that all the heirs-at-law and next of kin of Mrs. Eddy may be bound by any finding or order that the court may make in the case. Dr. Foster Eddy is an adopted son of Mrs. Eddy. The suit now before the Supreme Court for determination of points of law involved was brought in the Superior Court by Mrs. Eddy's son, George W. Glover of Lead, S. D. Dr. Foster Eddy, instead of joining in the suit, entered similar proceedings in the United States District court, where they are now pending.

Arguments were continued before the Supreme Court today. Samuel J. Elder of counsel for Henry M. Baker of Bow, executor of the will, discussed the bearing of New Hampshire statutes on the validity of the residuary bequest to the First church of Christ, Scientist, of Boston, arguing that the will did not violate the statutes.

A BOSTON GIRL'S BUDGET.

Hub Entertains Miniature Paris Salon at Museum of Fine Arts—Conservatory Musicians Give Brilliant Dramatic Performance in Aid of Nedy Students An Extraordinary Find of "Kinks" and Queens in Boston Public Library's Genealogical Department—Is the Average Shopping Woman a "Catty Hen?"—A Saleswoman's Viewpoint on Her Sex.

Boston, March 15, 1912.—The quest for a new home for the New England Historical Genealogical Society and the large number of books on genealogy which are constantly drawn from the public library indicate the interest which attaches to the ancestors of the majority of Americans. The renewed interest roused by the efforts for a suitable home for the local society recalls an incident purported to have happened recently. Not long ago a showily dressed woman went into the genealogical department of the Boston Public Library and after a couple of hours' perusal of English pedigrees with a visible air of increased pride, "I am most pleased with my morning's work," she remarked condescendingly to the man in charge. "I have just discovered that I am connected with three royal families, that I have 21 royal ancestors, and that I am entitled to use four different coats of arms, all of royal origin. I am most happy, in having made all these discoveries," and with a smile of conscious superiority she entered her waiting carriage. That the average woman is an inconsiderate, catty Hen when she goes shopping is a conviction long held by the Boston girl and emphasized by a spontaneous and heartfelt compliment overheard as it passed from a saleswoman behind a counter to a customer. A young lady made a small purchase at a trimming counter, speaking to the saleswoman as if she were a human being and conducting her business in the same manner which she would have maintained in any public place. The saleswoman, elderly, nervous and harassed by a group of women who had pined over every bit of stock on the counter, jawed her for not having just what they wanted, and fussed and quibbled over every inch of material purchased, was bordering on tears. As she handed her package to the young lady aforementioned, she burst out "You are just lovely to wait on—you make it a pleasure!" The young woman, flushed at the unexpected compliment, and thanked her with a pleased, "Why—I hope I am." The point in the incident is not that the young lady was specially agreeable, charming or suiting, but that the customers who had preceded her had been of the class which forgets that a woman behind a counter is as self-respecting and just as human as any of its own members. The fact that a natural, unostentatious polite customer brought forth such a burst of gratitude speaks badly for the average woman whom the saleswoman meets.

To breathe of, not to "bore" is the much argued question among Bostonian advocates and enemies of the fresh air principles of Dorchester, home of more children than any other suburban town on similar size in New England, rises up in wrath over the present system of open windows in the schoolroom. Several children have been taken ill; hence the wrath. The scheme was originally adopted for the health and protection of children. It appears to be a case of "whisky" when you're well makes you sick; whisky when you're sick makes you well." The while controversy brings up the question once more of whether the proper way is not to provide open air schools under scientific conditions of clothing, feeding and the rest as advocated by the promoters of the Franklin Park school.

A miniature Paris salon at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts deserves as much attention from New Englanders as the recent automobile show got; but needless to say the crowds at the two exhibitions bear no comparison. Still, for an art exhibition, the display of present day French paintings at the museum is drawing well. And what an opportunity! Yankees who go to Europe at great expense of time and money visit the salons over and over again until they get to know the pictures almost by heart. The same people may or may not take the trouble to run into the Boston Museum for a few minutes to look over a selection from the very best of recent salons—the admirably lucid and picturesque paintings of Cotte, the strong, brilliant color of Guston La Touche, the swiftness of Amén-Jean, the logical and well constructed work of many another painter of the most artistic of modern nations. Withal there are sculptures by Rodin and others, each worthy of an afternoon's contemplation. This exhibition, in the Renaissance sculpture hall during March, is one of the most important of its kind yet brought to America. It ought to be seen by every New England man and woman who has even the faintest interest in the fine arts.

A brilliant dramatic recital at Jordan Hall, arranged by that past master of pantomime, Clayton B. Gilbert, has been among Boston's recent diversions. Its object affects many ambitious and aspiring talents, throughout the country. The great impouring of society folk at the New England Conservatory building was an evidence not only in their interest in the clever pantomime, "The Statue of Love," and the comedy "Cousin Kate" but also of the local recognition of the needs of music students, many of whom come to Boston from a distance meagerly supplied with funds and too often compelled to sacrifice health in a double devotion to studies and breadwinning pursuits. The performances were specifically for the benefit of the Beneficent Society of the New England Conservatory of Music, whose funds supplement the rather limited number of scholarships at the disposal of the Conservatory management. This is one of the many good causes which are highly favored at the Hub, though unfortunately in the rest of New England the requirements of young people studying music are not always appreciated even by persons who have themselves had musical training. In a city where there are upwards of ten thousand professional students of music the restricted funds of such an organization as the Beneficent Association cannot, even by the utmost stretching, be made to do all that might be wished. Yet the work of this association has been singularly effective and far reaching. Since its incorporation in 1885 it has assisted hundreds of deserving young women, with loans, whose total amount approaches $35,000. No interest is charged on these advances, the recipient promising to repay as soon as possible after graduation. It shows perhaps a mistaken idea which some people have as regards the carelessness of musicians concerning their financial obligations, for the losses under this system of lending are said to have been extremely few. "Almost without exception," writes the secretary, "our beneficiaries are truly grateful for the help given them and faithfully pay their debt as soon as possible." It is good news that this year's entertainment of so worthy a cause has been remarkably successful and that a substantial addition has been made to the invested amounts which help to give aspirants a chance to study in the greatest American centre of musical education.

FIVE MEN ON TRAIN ARE ARRESTED

Charged With Making Disturbance on Train

Five men were arrested at Salem, on Friday evening on the train that passed through this city at 6:40 from North Conway to Boston. They had created a disturbance on the train, it is alleged and had frightened many passengers.

Soon after the train left Newburyport Conductor Edward Winslow found that one of the men was bleeding profusely from a wound in one of his hands, said to have been caused by a broken bottle thrown by some one unknown.

The train according to schedule is express from Newburyport to Salem but it was stopped at Wenham so that Conductor Winslow might telegraph for police assistance. When the train arrived at Salem, City Marshal Lehan and several patrolmen entered the smoking car and placed the following named under arrest: William Curley, 46 Dudley street, Roxbury; David Austin, 68 Williams street, Wallham; James O. Brine, 41 Norfolk street, Somerville; Thomas Hourin of Concord, N. H., and Michael Evans of Rumford Falls, Me. They were charged with drunkenness and creating a disturbance on a passenger train. Curley, who was suffering from a wounded hand was cared for by City Physician Noyes.

RAILROAD NOTES

The motive power department of the Boston and Maine road has received eight Atlantic type grasshopper engines from the Concord shops. They have been thoroughly overhauled for Boston and Concord express trains.

George Lyons passenger conductor a former resident of Newfields, has returned from a three months' trip to California.

The New Haven, Boston and Albany and Boston and Maine roads exchanged 232 cars of freight through South station yard, Boston, on Wednesday night via the Union Freight line.

Conductor J. Frank Richmond, who formerly ran the trains of the Portsmouth and Dover branch will on Sunday complete forty years of life on the road. He began as a freight brakeman on the old Boston and Maine under the late James T. Furber and has seen the ins and outs of both freight and passenger service.

There are only five conductors on the old Boston and Maine that now rank over Conductor Richmond by seniority of service. They are Charles E. Stevens, John Canavan, Charles O. Roberts, Frank Sawyer, and Royal Beals.

Henry E. Keenan has returned to this city and has taken his former position as motorman on the Portsmouth Electric Railway.

Service on the York, Harbor and Beach branch will be resumed on Monday next. As yet the runs on this line have not been posted.

An addition to the roundhouse in the Boston and Maine yards in Worcester is being built for the accommodation of the new locomotives which require more room and an increased pit service. The addition will have accommodations for six locomotives.

William B. Grigg railroad conductor who was called here by the death of his mother returned to Sheridan Wyoming on Friday.

Rumor in railroad circles has it that the vote now being taken among the trainmen on the matter of general promotion is against such a move.

The car department of the Boston and Maine road added new platform coach equipment to the daylight trains running between Boston and White River Junction, over the Southern division.

James Lang, superintendent of power house for the Boston Terminal company at the South station, has tendered his resignation to Manager William H. Wright, to take effect Friday, March 22. Mr. Lang is going to manufacture airships of a new type from original designs of his own.

The construction department of the terminal division of the Boston and Maine road is assembling the frame work for the new Charles River drawbridge at the North station in the East Somerville construction shops. Work of placing the new bridge in position will come under foreman Samuel Crusher, commencing about April 1.

Owing to the quiet spell in freight business especially at the coal docks one switching crew has been taken off temporarily.

The city of Manchester has filed a petition with the public service commission asking the Boston and Maine railroad for protection at certain grade crossings on the line of the Manchester and Lawrence and the Manchester and Portsmouth railroad. A hearing in this matter has been fixed for March 22 at 10 o'clock in the forenoon at the City hall in Manchester.

Wiseest Thing to Do With It.

"Heigho!" said Bidad, as Jimsonberry flashed by in his motor. "I wish I had an automobile." "Oh, nonsense, Bill," said Slathers. "What's the use? You couldn't afford to keep it." "No, by Jimminy," said Bidad, "but I could afford to sell it."—Harper's Weekly.

WILL BE NO RECOUNT

The ballots cast at the special election in this city Tuesday are all stored in the city clerk's office closely sealed in their boxes as they were brought in from the polling places. Under the law, they must be held for a period of 60 days, at the end of which time they will be destroyed. If no demand for a recount has been filed, if a recount is demanded, the ballots for that particular ward will be forwarded to the secretary of state, who will supervise the inspection of the ballots by the parties interested. It is not expected that any recount will be asked as there was no close vote in any of the wards.

The Senior class of Traip Academy are to have "Tag Day" the proceeds to go toward defraying their expenses to Washington in April.

March 23 will be the date of Tag Day, and these hustling young people should receive help from every citizen in the town. They will also have a dance in Wentworth hall on that evening, and it goes without saying that every dancer will be well tagged. There is also in preparation another drama by the Senior and Junior classes which will be given before the trip is taken. This is an opportunity for our citizens to wake up and help so it can be said that at least one class from Traip Academy visited Washington before completing their school days.

Rev. A. J. Price of York was a recent visitor in town.

Mrs. Josiah E. Keene of Kittery Depot is able to go out of doors after a long illness, which news is most pleasing to her many friends.

THE HUMAN FOOT.

It is Said to Be Changing and in Time May Become Toeless.

A London physician, Dr. A. Clement Lucas, says that if man keeps on wearing shoes and living under the present conditions he may eventually develop into a one toed animal, or, more properly speaking, a toeless one.

A number of years ago Dr. Lucas pointed out that the gradual disappearance of the little toe was getting ahead of the textbook, for while it had already lost one of its extensor tendons in quite an appreciable percentage of cases, one of its flexor tendons was absent also. On the other hand, the great toe had undergone extraordinary developments because the inner side of the foot was the first to catch the center of gravity in transferring the weight of the body from one foot to the other in walking.

The horse, which was once a fire toed animal, now moves about solely on the nail of its big toe or consolidated toes. There is no doubt that man's internal organism has been much modified since he left off living with nature and began living on it. Intestines have changed noticeably. The foot itself has also changed. It is more compactly built now, for the toes of the savage races are widely separated and stuck out on different angles, the big toe especially being thrown far out and resembling the great toes of a baboon.—Exchange.

CULTIVATE SIDE VISION.

It Will Enable You to See in Several Directions at Once.

One of the most useful gifts one can have is a good side vision. By side vision is meant literally ability to see in several directions at once and to know what is going on in other directions besides that upon which the gaze may be fixed at the moment.

Just try the next time you are reading your paper in the train, for instance, and you will understand clearly what is meant.

You can with little effort and while still reading follow the movements of those sitting opposite you and even those at your side.

With a little practice the range of your side vision can be extended behind you in each direction to an angle of forty-five degrees, and you can see clearly every movement that takes place on both sides simultaneously.

Now, just think what this means. The man in possession of a good side vision is not an easy one to take by surprise. In business he finds it a valuable asset, especially when talking with more than one person at a time.

He can guard against dangers from unexpected sources, and when crossing a roadway he can clearly see the traffic coming from either direction while still looking straight ahead.—London Answers.

A Fool's Paradise.

A world in which there were no labors to be accomplished, no burdens to be borne, no storms to be endured, would be a world without true joy, honest pleasure or noble aspiration. It would be a fool's paradise.

The Egoist.

Young Hostess giving her first dance to her sisters—Girls, I'm so anxious. Do you think I shall enjoy myself? I do hope I shall.—London Punch.

NO MONEY IN IT.

There are 500,000 golfers in the country. That's admitted by woopets of other games. They use at least 20 golf balls each a year. That is $10,000,000 balls. They cost to manufacture exactly $2,500,000. They sell for $7,500,000. Dealers make nothing out of them only selling them to spread the knowledge of their good manners and their interest in sport. So that each year when the manufacturers go to Europe to build castles and steal the hearts of princesses they take with them $5,000,000.

NOTICE.

Nancy Ann, Matchmaker

By Susanne Glenn

The colt tossed her head impatiently as her driver suddenly drew rein. "Want a ride, Nan?" called the young fellow to the girl on the cool porch. "You'll have to hurry; she won't stand."

"Nan, Nan," called her mother frantically from the door, "do not ride after that colt. You will all be killed!"

But the girl sprang lightly into the low buggy, not waiting to be assisted, and with a wave of her hand, was disappearing down the shady country road.

"Isn't she a darling?" cried Nan eagerly. "Such a line, such a coat, such a color. Isn't this a great deal of style for a poor young country doctor who isn't sure of even his office rent? Do not try to make me believe you have taken her for debt!"

Young Dr. Grey laughed happily. "No, my dear, I did not take her or a debt—although I did get her for a song. She has been mismanaged. She has a trifling fault that is sometimes designated by the term 'balky.' But it is an ugly word, and I refuse to use it in connection with such a perfect animal."

"But a balky horse—for a doctor! Fred, you might better not have sung."

"Wait and see, Miss Doubtful. She is young. She may get over her fault with good handling. And if she does there isn't a horse in this town that can come up with her. Want to see her go?"

"Oh, yes!" said Nan, shivering pleasantly.

There was a fine straight stretch of smooth road ahead. The slender bay horse seemed not to touch her feet to earth.

"Isn't that going some?" asked the young man complacently as he drew her to a walk.

"Isn't it worth something to have a horse like that when some one has taken the wrong medicine, or some other accident has occurred?"

"Indeed yes—if she happens to be in good humor."

"At least she has been nothing but pleasant since I have had her. And even if she refuses to go some day she will be very attractive to look upon while I wait."

Nan laughed derisively. "Still, I do not know that I can blame you," she said.

en into the yard just as Mr. Thompson started for his own horse.

"It is so fortunate I happened in at the right moment," said the doctor, with a quiet smile.

They rode in silence to the first corner, where the doctor drew up his horse.

"Which road do you prefer, Miss Nan?" he inquired politely.

"Isn't the one over the hill a mile Dr. Grey?"

"That is what they say."

"Then by all means take that one!" Without a word he turned into the hill road.

Nancy Ann threw her pretty head angrily, and traveled unevenly in nervous spirits. At the foot of the long hill she stopped suddenly.

"Go on, Nancy Ann," said the doctor, gently.

Nancy Ann lowered her head stubbornly. The girl lifted hers in chilling displeasure.

There was absolute silence for five minutes. Darkness was settling in densely. Presently rain began to splash on the leaves above their heads, and the young man sprang out to get the rubber curtains from under the seat.

"Guess you will not need to hold her," he observed.

Nancy Ann stiffened her forelegs defiantly, expecting some unusual move on the part of her driver. But he simply walked around her, adjusting her harness and stroking her neck a little before returning to the buggy.

"Nan," he said after another silence broken only by the fall of the increasing rain, "Nan, I've spent a very long time with you."

"Nan," reaching along the back of the seat, "why do you sit so that the rain beats in against you? You'll freeze."

His arm drew her to a more protected position.

"How much longer, Dr. Grey, do you expect to keep me here?"

"My dear girl, much as I have craved your society, you surely can not hold me to blame for this delay."

Nan did not trust herself to answer.

"Dear," he said at last, very gently, "I wish you would let me give you back your ring."

"I wish," icily, "that you would go home."

"Evidently neither of us will go our wish," he answered cheerfully. The rain fell steadily, musically. The woods seemed full of strange night sounds.

"Whatever are we going to do?" asked the girl at last.

"Wait until she is ready to start. It would do no good to heat her, even if you would allow it. It is tedious. Admit, Nan, but I'm getting used to this waiting game. For I'm going to wait for you, dear, if it is until I am grey."

"You are grey, now," said Nan derisively.

"Nan, what do you mean?" eagerly.

"Dear heart, listen to me just a moment. What has been the trouble between us, anyway? Surely you can not blame me if I love you so dearly; that I like your name and everything about you? If you had objected because the name was too good, I would have changed it willingly."

Dropping the useless reins, he drew the ring from his pocket and put it in its old place on her finger.

"Nan," he whispered, "I'm the happiest man that ever sat behind a balky horse."

Nancy picked up her ears with sudden interest. Then she began to move slowly up the long hill, and at the corner she broke into her usual willing trot.

"Fred, how in the world do you manage with her?" asked the girl.

"I always go by the valley road, even if it is an extra mile. She was brought up and—mismanaged—in the hill road."

"Oh," cried she with sudden understanding, "you do not deserve to be forgiven!"

"But I gave you your choice, my girl. I knew we could come to an understanding if you'd let me see you for half an hour, Nan, dear!"

Roof of Crystallized Salt.

The great salt lake at Obdorsk is nine miles wide and seventeen miles long, yet except in a few places it is solidly roofed over with a deposit of salt which is becoming thicker and thicker each year, says the Scientific American. About the middle of the last century salt crystals first began to gather upon the surface of the water. Year by year, owing to the evaporation of the water, the crystals became more numerous, and then caked together until this great roof was formed. In 1878 the water beneath this salt crystal roof found an underground outlet into the Obi river. This lowered the lake's surface about three feet, leaving that distance between the water and the roof, and each year this distance has been diminished by the constant addition of salt crystals to the roof. Many springs surround this lake. The water flows over the roof and evaporates there, and thus continually adds to its thickness. After many years the springs will probably become choked with their own deposits, and then the whole will become covered with earth, so that a great salt mine will be formed—a treasure for the Siberians hundreds of years to come.

BASKETBALL

Juniors Win From Sophomores in a Very Fast Game at Y.M.C.A..

In the inter-class series of the High school the Sophomores defeated the Juniors 23 to 15 on Friday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

It was the fastest game of the season and the score does not indicate how evenly matched the teams are.

The Sophomores got the jump on the Juniors at the start, Hewitt shooting two baskets. Hewitt added two on fouls while Sanderson shot two goals from the floor. The first period ended with the Sophomores leading 6 to 4.

In the second period, Bruce caged two baskets from the floor, Hewitt one and Capt. Yeaton one. Hewitt also shot three baskets from fouls, swelling the Sophomores total to 17. For the Juniors Rand caged two while Fullam made one, making their total 10.

In the third period the Sophomores ran away from their opponents, Capt. Yeaton shooting four goals from the floor while Hewitt and Mugridge also connected for one apiece. Quirk and Sanderson from the floor and a goal from foul by Sanderson constituted the Juniors' scoring in this period.

Capt. Yeaton and Hewitt were the stars of the game, both playing the game of their lives.

For 1913, Capt. Sanderson, who was playing his first game of the season played well, as did Rand and Quirk.

The same teams will play the second game of their series on Wednesday and a large crowd is expected. The score:

P. H. S. 1913. P. H. S. 1913.
Bruce, rf. 10, Quirk
Hewitt, lf. 10, Fullam
Hayford, c. 5, Thayer
Ewen, rb. 5, Rand
Mugridge, lb. 5, Fullam
Yeaton, lb. 5, Sanderson
Score, P. H. S., 1914, 23; P. H. S., 1913, 15. Goals from floor, Bruce 2, Hewitt 4, Mugridge, Yeaton 5, Quirk, Fullam, and 2, Sanderson 3. Goals from fouls, Hewitt 5, Sanderson. Referee, Howard, Umpire, Ellsworth. Scorers, Crossman and Hodgkins. Time, 20 minutes.

A Deep One.

"Goosh all hemlock!" exclaimed the first farmer; "ain't yer struck water yet? How deep hev ye gone?"

"'Bout a hundred feet," replied the other placidly.

"An' ain't ye discouraged?"

"Oh! I dunno. I can't say I ain't gittin' a long wait."—Catholic Standard and Times.

Of Course They Worried.

"What's the charge against this man?" asked the judge. "We desire, your honor," replied the lawyer in the cause, "to have him tried for insanity. His family is greatly worried about him." "What has he done?" "He has sold his automobile for the purpose of raising money with which to pay an honest debt."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Wanted to See Themselves.

A moving picture camera man, in an automobile, took some pictures of the crowds on the west side of Broadway between Forty-ninth and Forty-eighth streets. At least fifty persons yelled at him and asked where the pictures were to be shown. They wanted to see themselves.

A BLUNDER.

Friends of Mr. Roosevelt in the republican state convention held in Virginia yesterday resented the failure of the temporary chairman to mention the name of Mr. Roosevelt in recounting the achievements of the republican Presidents. They were right. It was a blunder, and should not have been committed.

It is useless to deny that while President Mr. Roosevelt rendered the country much good service, at that time he was in sympathy with his party, and led it along lines that yielded excellent results. At the outset John Hay was Secretary of State and when death took him Elihu Root stepped into the place. Their influence in the cabinet was wholly for policies recognized as republican.

It is of the first importance to remember, too, that Mr. Taft helped make a part of the Roosevelt record. While Secretary of War he was of great value to his chief and so impressed himself upon the times as that when the party was called upon to elect a new leader he was chosen in national convention without much difficulty and his party's endorsement was elected President with less difficulty. His nomination and his election were both the result of the credit he had won as a member of the second Roosevelt administration.

To deny credit to Mr. Roosevelt as President, therefore, is to deny credit to John Hay, Elihu Root and William H. Taft, all approved republicans, and all executives of the first class. The Roosevelt record is a part of the republican record made since March 4, 1861, upon which emphasis is laid in the appeal for a continuation of that party in office.

The present criticism of Mr. Roosevelt is founded upon the claim that he has "progressed" outside of his party. Since leaving the White House he has become infected with populism, and is now admired and followed by men and women who in the days of militant populism under its own name were leaders in that movement. Mrs. Mary Ellen Lease who belied twenty years ago to change Kansas from a republican to a populist state, now recognizes in Mr. Roosevelt a kindred spirit. Were he to be returned to the White

That Portsmouth is to see a good baseball season.

That the ice on some of the streets is nearly a foot thick.

That the coal bill for heating the City hall the past winter is no small one.

That a new lot of fast locomotives will be added to the motive department of the Boston and Maine the coming summer for passenger service.

That should President Taft decide to come to this city it will be the first visit of the nation's chief executive since that of the President Arthur.

That the Warwick club appears to have it on them all, on pool and billiards.

That the department of public works at the navy yard has plans for plenty of work and improvements if Uncle Sam would only send along the money.

That nearly all the wood work of the exterior of the Portsmouth Brewing company's plant has been replaced by brick.

That the black-jack is very much in evidence of late.

That there is too many dangerous men carrying around this bad weapon.

That the Salvation Army was never so busy as at present.

That the green will be in evidence tomorrow.

That the United States court comes in here next week.

That the Dover Point House will be run with many changes under the new ownership.

That among the improvements will be a garage.

That the male quartet with the urbane harmony on Vaughan street never ought to do a hard days work.

That there are plenty of vocalists getting good money for the same thing.

The police of Biddeford want a raise of 25 cents.

That they claim $2.25 is too small a salary to live on when they have to pay out $106 for a rig.

That the management of the Concord Sunset League requires the managers of all teams to have the names of all players handed in before April 15th.

That five doctors want to be City physicians and seven men are after the assessors jobs in Biddeford under the next municipal administration.

That the last of the old battleship Maine disappeared below the surface of the ocean waves at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

That a Biddeford woman tried to end her life by soaking matches in her coffee.

CARD OF THANKS.

I wish to express thanks to kind friends and neighbors during my bereavement in the death of my husband Frank J. Flanagan, and also wish to announce my appreciation of all floral tributes.

Mrs. Nellie Flanagan.

Don't use harsh physics. The reaction weakens the bowels, leads to chronic constipation. Get Doan's. Regulates. They operate easily, tone the stomach, cure constipation.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Emily E. Shaw.

Mrs. Emily (Emery) Shaw, widow of the late John W. Shaw of South Berwick, died last Monday evening from the effects of a shock at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. Arthur W. Hanson of Highland Avenue. The deceased was a native of South Berwick, the daughter of Rufus and Nancy (Hamilton) Emery, and had spent all her life here with the exception of a 10 years when she lived at Portsmouth, N. H. Her age was 81 years and 1 month.

Eight years ago Mrs. Shaw suffered from a series of slight shocks which left her an invalid, unable to walk and confined to her bed or wheel-chair ever since. During these years of physical and still greater mental suffering she has been a very patient and uncomplaining invalid, bearing with the greatest fortitude, day by day, her burden of weakness and helplessness. She has been cared for devotedly all the time by her granddaughter, Mrs. W. Hanson, with whom she made her home.

She was a member of the M. E. church of this place and although unable for many years to attend the services, she led a beautiful Christian life at home.

Mrs. Shaw leaves to mourn her loss two sisters, Mrs. Julia A. Felch of Lowell, Mass., and Mrs. Hannah A. Stevens of Portsmouth, N. H.; one daughter, Mrs. Charles M. Lord of Portsmouth, N. H.; four grandchildren, Mrs. Mortimer Raynes and Miss Carrie Lord of Portsmouth, N. H.; and C. Justin Lord, of Lynn, Mass.; also seven great grandchildren.

HALF AN ACRE OF CARNATIONS

E. J. Clough of Greenland is cutting nearly 2000 of the finest carnations that go to Boston daily, and 4000 to 6000 sweet peas.

Some of the finest flowers in this city are from his conservatories.

Call him up on the phone and get prices. Portsmouth delivery free. Tel. 878-M.

What Does Portsmouth Say.

The Concord Board of trade have invited the New Hampshire state grange to hold its next annual session in that city with the same inducements as two years ago.
